

Come to see us this week, and don't wait until the last minute! We are available every day of the week. But we won't be available over the weekend!

Where and when to get help before the midterm:

- On Monday, Arthur is available 10am to 12pm and Maddy from 1 to 2pm.
- On Tuesday, Maddy is available from 12 to 1pm.
- On Wednesday, review session in class plus Nico is available from 10:30 to 11:30.
- Sections on Wednesday/Thursday.
- On Thursday Nico is available from 10 to 11am.
- Online: use the forum and get help from your peers!

In preparation for the MIDTERM EXAM, you want to focus on:

- How to represent the internal structure of words and compounds, the English Right-Head Rule.
- Derivational and Inflectional morphology.
- Constituency tests (stand alone, substitution, topicalization, clefting, pseudoclefting and coordination).
- Tree structure (how to draw trees) and the vocabulary associated with that (exhaustive dominance in particular).
- How to represent structural ambiguities and how to use constituency tests to support the suggested structures.
- X-bar theory (complement rule, specifier rule and adjunct rule) cross-linguistically.
- How to draw tree compliant with X-bar theory for VPs, TPs, CPs, DPs, NPs, PPs and APs.
- How to write lexical entries and how to draw phrases for new lexical items (that is, you want to understand the relationship between the information in the lexical entry and the phrase structure of that lexical item).
- How to draw trees for languages other than English.
- How to represent small clauses in English.
